Out on the Town

Because of Medfield's ideal location, it is no wonder that the surrounding areas act as a magnet for students. With Boston, the Cape, and the Tweeter Center all within close proximity, students are drawn to the opportunities they offer. Medfield High School prepares us for new lives away from the small town, and consequently creates a mobile body of students constantly on the go. Many recognize there is a whole world outside of this little spot. Concerts, dinners out, and road trips have come to replace walking uptown on half days. But just because we leave our town doesn't mean we leave it behind. Our roots still lie in Medfield High School. Carrying each other and the lessons we've learned, we continue to venture out on the town.

Throughout the school year there are many exciting events that make all students want to stay and enjoy Medfield. This includes Medfield Day, an occasion in which students can give back to the town that does so much for them. Students working for M.E.M.O. strive to make the event a fun and interesting experience for young children while raising money for the Student Council. Following Medfield Day, there is the Seniors Picnic; here seniors enjoyed each other's company while celebrating the start to their final year at MHS. Later in the year students show their Medfield pride during spirit week, which consisted of five days: Color Day, Formal Day, Celebrity Day, Pirate Day, and Medfield Pride Day. This year the Pep Rally was funnier than ever. Pat Nickerson, the M.C., caused the entire gym to erupt with laughter the dances this year while seniors danced to "Jump on It" in the lip sync. All grades enjoyed love to be out on the night away. Medfield High School students may happenings right in their own backyard, why would anyone want to leave?

MEMO DAY

A Better Community

This year at Medfield Day, Student Council raised money by working for the M.E.M.O. corporation. These students ran the entertainment for the younger children of Medfield. Kids enjoyed bouncing on the moonwalks and riding the mini-train. Field Hockey ran a booth to raise money for their team. Here the girls painted children's faces and nails. They also sold baked goods to Medfield residents. Their proceeds went toward new uniforms for this year's season. Peer Leadership ran a booth where people of all ages could win goldfish by bouncing a ping-pong ball into a plastic cup with a winner sticker on the bottom.

Out of our small town, MHS students create memories

No one can deny that Medfield is a great place to grow up. But, as we get older, we begin to venture out of our safe haven and with all that Massachusetts has to offer, it is no wonder that MHS students are constantly on the go. Boston remains a favorite dining location, while the Cape gives us hours of fun in the sun. And who can forget sports? Red Sox season is cherished by many die-hard fans. As we explore our surroundings, we continue to make memories that will last a lifetime.

Above: Maggie Carey, Briana Lane, Alexa Santucci, Jill Price, Sarah Swanson, and Katherine Bragg stop to strike a pose at the T-Station before gearing up for a night of fun in the city.

What do you like to do outside of Medfield?

"Watch the Sox beat the Yankees at Fenway Park."
-Colin Foley, sophomore

"I love going to Fire and Ice with friends."
-Sarah Kelly, junior

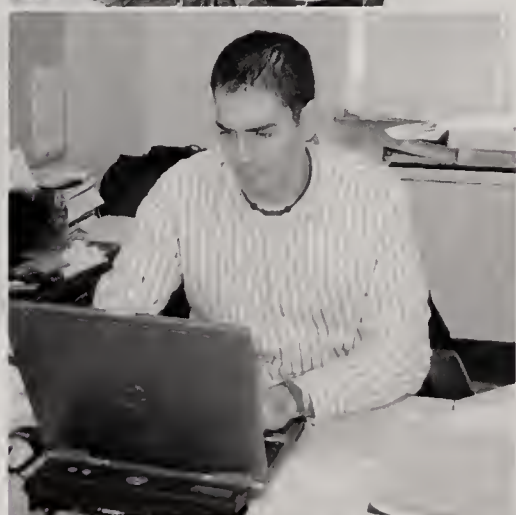

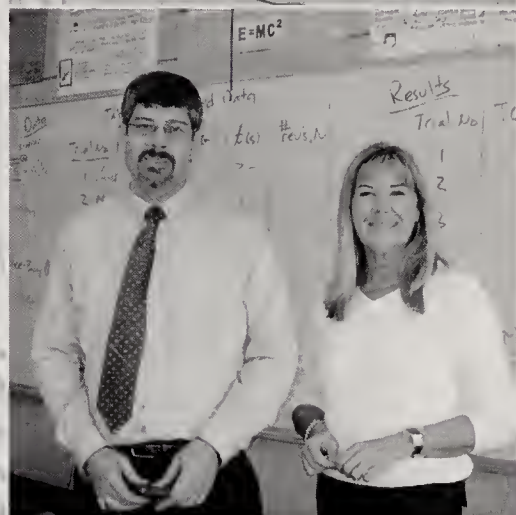

"I like going to Cape Cod. There are some great sand dunes, and the occasional seal."
-Jamie O'Connell, senior

In a city filled with people, it can be extremely difficult to find your way with only landmarks and street signs to guide you on your journey. At MHS, our faculty and administration are our street signs guiding us from freshman year when we can't even find our classes, up to senior year when we are preparing ourselves to move on, to travel along a new path in our lives with hopes of success. The teachers at Medfield High encourage us daily to reach for higher goals and explore opportunities outside of our town, while keeping in mind the values taught at MHS. In a city, the main structure and roots are the large buildings and stifling skyscrapers that everyone looks up to. In our high school community the teachers are the ones we look up to and depend on to keep us grounded because like a skyscraper they are the structure and roots of our school that keep us steady and in place. For every new road taken the incredible MHS staff is here to assist us on our exciting voyage through high school!

Heading Out & About

Mrs. Ellen Dugan has worked at Medfield High School since 1978. Thus, it's no surprise that she has taught such a variety of courses: writing, literature, speech, Latin, business law, and so much more! When asked how she became interested in teaching English, Mrs. Dugan replied that she used to love playing school at age 10 or 11 and that "two fantastic English professors" inspired her to teach the subject, as well. Her favorite thing about teaching is "interacting with students in an academically stimulating situation, one which at the same time is always different and always enjoyable."

Although Mrs. Dugan recalled numerous favorite memories from Medfield High School experiences, perhaps her most rewarding memory is "the sometimes surprising and always gratifying progress and maturity of the graduating seniors." Mrs. Dugan also shared three main reasons why she likes Medfield High School: "The relationships I have with colleagues," "my familiarity with the town and school – all four of my children are MHS grads: '84, '86, '88, '90," and "the warm and respectfully relaxed relationship which exists between teachers and students." Her words of wisdom to the class of 2007 are: "Follow what is right for you, forge ahead toward your dreams, and remember that success in any aspect of your life does not come without dedicated hard work. Most of all, keep a sense of balance and humor. Be able to laugh at yourself!"

As Mrs. Dugan begins the next chapter of her life – retirement – she will have the opportunity to engage in some of her favorite activities, such as cooking, entertaining, traveling, reading, and attending theatre and sporting events. Though she will be missed, faculty and students alike feel comforted to know that they will see her around since Mrs. Dugan is a Medfield resident.

From those who know her best...

In & Out

Since he was 10 years old, Mr. Joseph desired to become a school teacher and a football coach. Mr. Joseph said that he always viewed history as a "story" or a "movie" with clever plots and fascinating people. Fortunately for Medfield High School, Mr. Joseph chose to spend the last 17 years teaching classes, such as United States History and Future Studies, and coaching the football team. This teacher and coach has always enjoyed laughing and joking with the faculty and students surrounding him in the building and on the field. In fact, Mr. Joseph described the school's atmosphere as more of a family than an education factory, and he emphasized how much he loved living in the community in which he taught. Students remarked that he often expressed interest in their futures by asking them how their college search was going, and this outreach is part of what gave the school this family feel.

When asked about his memories of the class of 2007, Mr. Joseph characterized them as a motivated, friendly bunch. As he thought about his memories of teaching in past years, the history teacher said his favorite thing about being an educator was that he always felt it kept him "young."

As a retiree, Mr. Joseph plans to watch films, continue to coach, visit new restaurants, and travel. When asked to leave some words of wisdom to the class of 2007, Mr. Joseph replied with a quote by Will Rogers: "Even if you're on the right track, you'll get run over if you just sit there and don't keep moving." Indeed, this "family" will sorely miss Mr. Joseph.

From those who know him best...

"Mr. Joseph has inspired me (because I've watched) him as a football coach and seen his 'never give up' attitude throughout the past 15 years. The dedication and hours of time in rain, snow and gloom of night he gave to the football program (also inspired me)."

-Mr. Desorgher

Mr. Joseph is a great guy and has an awesome sense of humor."

Nick Pope

"I'm going to miss all of his movies; they really help me understand the topics better. He's a really good guy."

-Dasha Daniels

The 2006-2007 year has been great for Medfield High School's underclassmen. Enthusiastic MHS students welcomed the new freshmen and these newcomers have proven to be a wonderful addition to the high school environment. Their eagerness to succeed is constantly shown by their motivation and great attitudes. The sophomores felt excited to no longer be the youngest of the Medfield bunch. They have truly shown their maturity and potential to do great things in years to come. The juniors are a lovable, silly class that raised the bar of expectations by having fun while still managing to excel during a difficult academic year. With only one year left at MHS for the class of 2008, there is no doubt that the best is yet to come!

"The biggest change between high school and middle school is that here we have the guidance of upperclassmen to help us freshmen learn the ropes."

- Mike Cotter

"The best thing about high school is that there are more opportunities to meet new people."

"I like the high school better than the middle school for two reasons. First off, the freedom and independence here is much more age appropriate. Secondly, you really feel like you're a part of something bigger than yourself."

Medfield High School had a phenomenal athletic year. Players and fans alike showed their team spirit through determination and excitement. In turn, this energy permeated the school daily. The awesome fan base, including parents and students, helped carry MHS teams to success. For the varsity football team, 2006 was the best year yet. An outstanding 12-1 season and 9-0 record in the TVL culminated in the first State Division III Super Bowl win in Medfield history! Girls Volleyball also took the state championship title for their second year in a row with an overall record of 25-1 and perfect record in the TVL. Congratulations to all Medfield Athletes for a great year!

"Life on a lifeboat isn't much of a life...
Physically it is extraordinarily arduous, and morally it is killing. You make adjustments if you want to survive. Much becomes expend-you're at the bottom of hell, yet you have your arms crossed and a smile on your face, and you feel you're the luckiest person on earth.

Why? Because at your feet you have a tiny dead fish." Life of Pi. Like

We know you're going to have so much fun in college, but we just want to give you a few words of wisdom:
1. If you don't know the answer on a test, try to make a connection to "The Puppy Who Lost It's Way".
2. If you're ever unsure of what to do in a given situation, refer to "Bart Simpson's Guide to Life".
3. Always remember that in football, the team with the most points in the end of the 4th quarter wins.
4. Always tell Mr. Soriano you're soo sorry!
Congratulations and Good Luck!

A Shout Out to the Communities

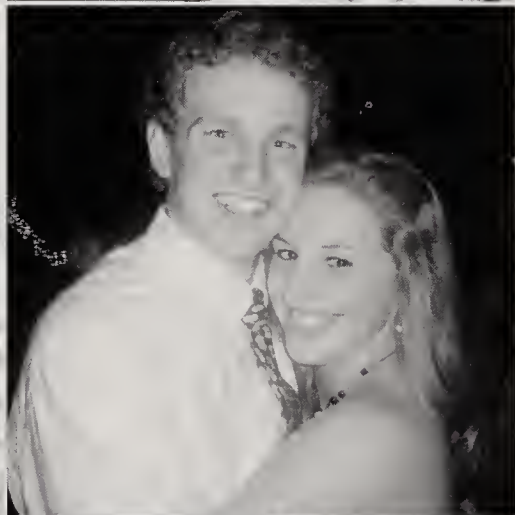

A Special Thanks to Advertisement Purchasers - You Put Smiles on Our Faces!

"Memory is a way of holding onto the things you love, the things you are, the things you never want to lose". The Wonder Years. From first bus rides to graduation caps, there are many things the senior class of 2007 will never want to forget. They have had exciting field trips including Nature's Classroom, the Montreal Trip, Plymouth Plantation, and the Science Museum. But now instead of venturing out with their class, they will venture out on their own; though the memories of venturing with their friends, family, and teachers will always travel with them. Memories of middle school, and kids' night at the senior picnic, the lip syncs in Good luck class of 2007! night out in Wheelock School.

►► Here's to you,

Mr. Stockbridge

...a dedication by the Class of '07

Having taught over 37 years of history in Medfield, Mr. Stockbridge has left a lasting impact on countless classes of students. What truly sets a history class with Mr. Stockbridge apart from any other is the way in which he connects themes from the past to present day. Colleague Ms. Wren-Burgess remarks, "his sophomores can tell you how the seven markers of civilization or Adam Smith impact their lives in Medfield today!" Both his World History and Modern World Conflicts classes have helped students recognize the importance of history in their lives. This awareness of history can often turn into a passion for the subject. Briana Whelan relates: "Mr. Stockbridge made me love history." And she is certainly not the only one. Mr. Stockbridge's rhymes, funny jingles, and helpful hints make history fun to learn for any of his students. "He has one of the best senses of humor of anyone I know," says fellow history teacher Mr. Desorger. Always offering a world of encouragement and never failing to recognize accomplishment, Mr. Stockbridge pushes students to success while helping them enjoy the journey through history.

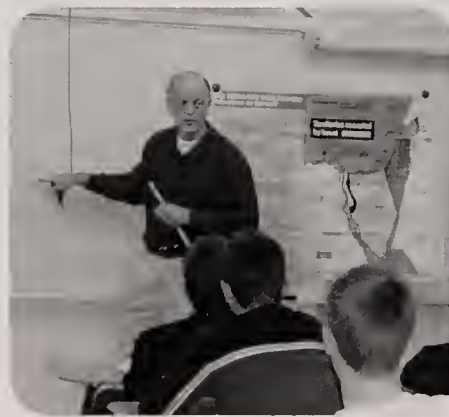

Even students who have never had Mr. Stockbridge as a teacher think of him fondly. He has advised numerous clubs, most recently Amnesty International and Politics Club. And even students who have never met Mr. Stockbridge personally know him as a smiling face in the hallway. With a cheerful "Hello" or a warm smile, he greets every passerby in the hallway, making them feel genuinely cared for. His recognition of any student, even in as small a mannerism as a greeting, imparts the respect that Mr. Stockbridge shows for all. "One of the most impressive things that I respect about Mr. Stockbridge is how he respects those around him," adds Ms. Wren-Burgess. "I have never seen Mr. Stockbridge treat anyone without respect."

As the class of 2007 graduates, we would like to dedicate our yearbook to Mr. Stockbridge. Before he retires this year, we would like him to know just how appreciated he is as a teacher, a mentor, and a person. He leaves the senior class with the following advice: "Continue investing into your own education with the same enthusiasm and integrity that has made Medfield High a Compass School Award winner!" Thanks, Mr. Stockbridge!!

"Mr. Stockbridge motivates kids to work hard. He accepts nothing less than a 100% effort."

—Sam Major

"Mr. Stockbridge taught me so much about the world and Modern World Conflicts was my favorite class in high school! He was great!"

—Renée Selim
